THE SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS . . .

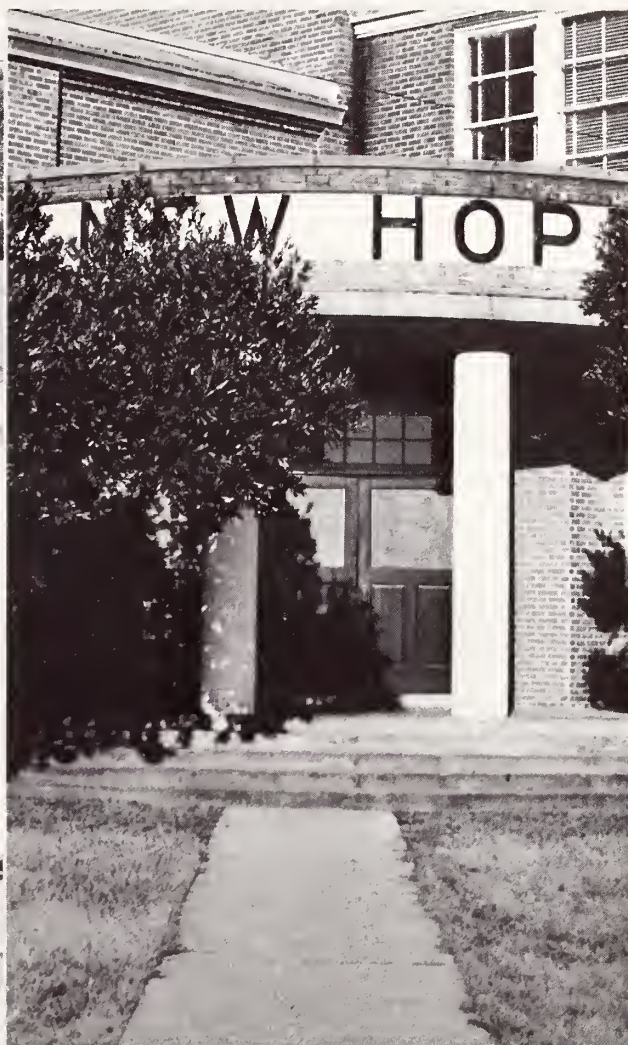

Foreword

The spirit of a school is a nebulous, changing thing, for spirit is one with the students. A photograph can capture an instant, a word, a mood. The 1964 NUHOSCA presents a medley of language and photographs in an effort to capture the essence of student life.

Dedication

Because of your presence which has inspired us when we were discouraged, your humor which has cheered us when we were sad, and your devotion which has warmed us in adversity, we the NUHOSCA staff dedicate this, the 1964 NUHOSCA to you, MRS. CARRAWAY.

Besides regular teaching duties, Mrs. Carraway is the sponsor of the NUHOSCA Staff and the Beta Club. When there was a tobacco tying, a paper drive, or any other senior activity, Mrs. Carraway was there. The seniors and the other classes were certain of her presence at any and all events of importance to them.

This is the spirit that cheers

Pep rallies, classes, clubs, and homework—all are integrated elements in the life of a student. Within the framework of New Hope High, the students react with zest, moments of humor, streaks of mischief, and times of seriousness to the varying events of a day. A few of these moments are captured on the following pages devoted to New Hope's student life.

hThe Spirit Of Its Students to a team to victory, that causes a goal to be met, that breathes life into a school.

Only Three Minutes . . .

Several times daily students run an obstacle course of elbows, locker doors, and jammed halls, in an effort to change classes in three minutes. Time scoots when one tries to cover the distance between the high school building and the far metal buildings on our sprawling campus.

Food And Friendship

Midday finds our hungry group enjoying lunch in the cafeteria. The thirty-minute lunch period is the time to catch up on the latest news over the trays before the last minute dash to class.

Flying Fingers . . .

...dominate the scene in a typing class as the students race to beat the time clock. Class periods are fifty-five minutes long. Our day begins with a homeroom period which students may use for study or activities. Five class periods follow. The dismissal bell rings at 3:08 P.M.

Quiet Moment

Away from slamming doors, running feet, and clashing voices, Diane Hill finds a moment of seclusion in the library. Our students find that the academic pace increases each year, and that periods of concentrated study are vital to the student who would succeed.

Finale

The 3:08 bell signals the daily exodus as students stream from the six campus buildings. They quickly fill every available bus, the motors roar, and buses slowly pull away. The buildings reflect empty windows in the afternoon sun, and another day of student life at New Hope is ended.

Student Council, A Representative Voice

The Student Government of New Hope plays a very important part in the life of the school. This body of students is the very heart of student co-operation. It serves as a liason group to unite the students with the administration as the student voice. The Student Council sponsors all assemblies, charts all clubs, and is responsible for a Homecoming ceremony in February. This year, Student Council has chartered a Pep Club, the Quill and Scroll Club, the French Club, and the new Glee Club.

CAROLYN PATTON

President

NANCY SMITH

Vice President

EDITH THOMPSON

Secretary-Treasurer

The officers of the Student Council were chosen by the students in a general election. The President presides at assemblies and at meetings of the student council. The Vice-President assumes these duties in the absence of the President. The Secretary-Treasurer is responsible for recording the events of the meetings and for keeping the account books.

The faculty accepts a student challenge to a duel on the basketball court. An action packed game resulted in a 44-44 tie. The faculty, in no shape to continue the game, made plans for a re-match in February.

Mr. King takes the mike at assembly to address the student body. All assemblies are sponsored by the student government. The president presides as a representative of all students. Assemblies are called when there is an election, a special entertainment, or a discussion of an issue concerning the whole school.

Genius In Action

The Science Club is open to any mad scientists in the Junior and Senior classes. They haven't created a Mr. Hyde or a Frankenstein, but they have met and discussed various projects. The purpose of this club is to stimulate the students' interest in all branches of science.

The Science Club officers check the supply room for C_2H_5OH . The officers are President, JOAN STRICKLAND; Vice-President, DARRELL HINNANT; Secretary, HELEN SMITH; and Student Council Representative, ANNETTE DANIELS.

Parlez-Vous Français?

Mrs. Hajjar, the French Club sponsor, teaches French I and II. Educated in Damascus, Mrs. Hajjar speaks several languages fluently.

Anyone who has enough nasal resonance can speak French well. However, most non-Frenchmen speak it only well enough to sound like Americans speaking French. The French Club is composed of all French speaking Americans at New Hope who can maintain a ninety average in the course. Members meet once a month to discuss France and other foreign lands. Mrs. Hajjar, the sponsor, gives a pizza party for the members once a year.

Improvement of family and community life as well as that of the individual is the major aim of the Future Homemakers of America. During their high school years, the girls are taught the basic fundamentals of homemaking by Mrs. Kneeshaw.

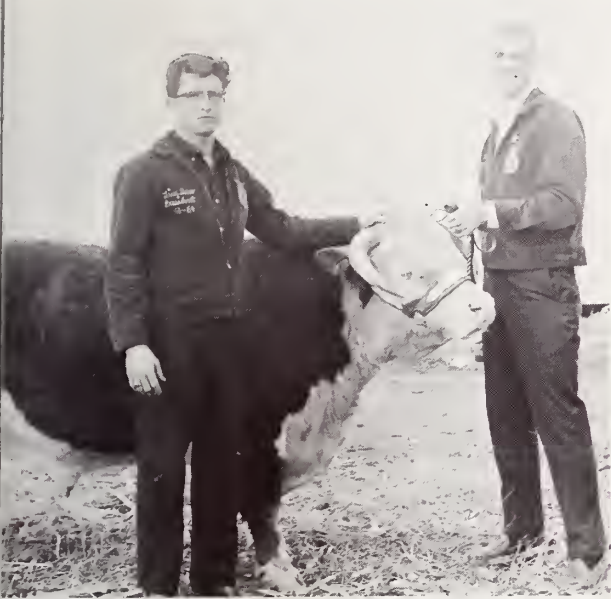

F.H.A.

FHA Officers are: NANCY SMITH, County Officer; GAIL GARRIS, Treasurer; JUDY BEST, President; ANNETTE DANIELS, Song Leader; ALMA SUTTON, Secretary; EDITH THOMPSON, Historian; LINDA ROGERS, Piano Player; JOAN LANCASTER, Vice-President; PEGGY GRAY, Parliamentarian; CAROLYN WILLIAMS, Reporter; and MRS. KNEESHAW, Adviser.

Debbie Carter, Linda Stroud, and Eula Lancaster face the prospect of eating their own cooking. As part of Home Economics training, the girls prepare three meals in their cooking classes.

Tim Daw and Kenneth Herring groom the F.F.A. Grand Champion Bull.

FFA Officers are: President, TIM DAW; Vice President, ALTON SMITH; Secretary, LINWOOD SAULS; Treasurer, KENNETH SAULS; Reporter, FRANKLIN SPENCE; Sentinel, PETE PARKS; Adviser, MR. KNEESHAW.

F.F.A.

"Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve" is the motto of the Future Farmers of America. With the help of Mr. Kneeshaw, the advisor, the boys are developing their agricultural skills, leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. This year the F.F.A. boys won sixth place in tobacco grading at the State Fair. The F.F.A. educational exhibit and the tractor team took third place honors at the Wayne County Fair. Their forestry exhibit and the champion chapter owned bull took first place awards.

823? 921? Which is the biography classification? The Dewey Decimal System, card catalogue, and check-out stamp are familiar words to the library practice students. They work daily in the library to learn library routines and tasks. They help Mrs. Dudley, the librarian, to check out the shelf books. They also keep the library bulletin boards up to date.

Training For The Future

Type a stencil, please. Make a hundred copies of this bulletin before my next class! Check this file please. These are routine tasks that office practice students perform for the faculty every day. In this class they learn how to improve office routine and how to use many types of office machines.

Dream Comes True

The Yellow Jacket staff saw the fulfillment of a dream this year. For the first time New Hope School had its newspaper professionally printed. The newspaper staff had discussed publishing the Yellow Jacket for months. The biggest problem of the staff was money for publishing costs. By selling ads to different places of business, and by selling subscriptions to the students, the staff made enough money to publish the Yellow Jacket for the first time. It was a happy day when volume I of the paper arrived at New Hope school. Now we have a school paper we can be proud of.

On The Beat

Ann Summerlin, editor, of the Yellow Jacket, Mrs. Burris, sponsor, and staff members proofread the copy before sending it to the publisher.

Each fall, before the Wayne County Fair the Future Homemakers of America select one girl to represent them in the Fair Queen contest. This year's Queen is Judy Best.

The F.F.A. Sweetheart is chosen by the members of the Future Farmers of America. This year's Sweetheart is Linda Daniels.

School Royalty

Judy Best, Homecoming Queen, is surrounded by her court of honor. They are Carolyn Patton, Gail Garris, and Carolyn Williams. Homecoming nominees are from the Junior and Senior classes and are voted on by the entire student body.

The Holiday Queen was chosen by a majority vote of the Junior and Senior classes. The Queen represents New Hope in Holiday Parade sponsored by the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce. Mildred Daniels was this year's Queen.

Bonnie Hill and Tony Creech, King and Queen of the Fall Harvest Festival hold their trophies. Shown with them are the elementary and primary king and queens. These students were chosen by penny ballots.

Under the direction of Mrs. Thomas, the Girls' Chorus is rehearsing selections to be presented before the Parents-chorus is open to all interested girls. It meets twice weekly to learn and rehearse songs. The chorus will perform at this spring.

New Hope's Sweetest Sounds

Ava Jean Owens plays the piano as the group has an impromptu jam session before chorus meeting.

The girls gather 'round as Mrs. Thomas instructs them in the fine art of harmony.

Cafeteria Style

Mrs. Summerlin, our dietician, faces a parent's nightmare. Three hundred hungry teenagers flock to her daily for enough calories and vitamins to see them through the afternoon. She and her staff must work very hard to feed the students well balanced lunches and to keep the lunchroom attractive. Mrs. Summerlin has also kept eye catching bulletin boards posted in the lunchrooms to help students learn more about nutrition. We owe her a big vote of thanks.

Custodian

Mr. Kennedy, school custodian, is responsible for the upkeep of the buildings and grounds. In winter, his day begins early as he fires the boilers to build up heat before the students arrive. The buzz of his lawn mower is a familiar spring sound on campus.

Watch The Birdie, Please

"Now let me see; I thought I had it, I did, I did!" And probably Max Best did have another picture for the yearbook or the newspaper. Max has served as the official photographer for both the school publications this year. He has clicked the shutter at ballgames, in the halls, on the roof, under the stairs, and in the closet. Many students have been surprised this year with the words "Smile, you're on Beaver's camera!"

367 Miles

Approximately 979 students are transported daily by our 14 bus drivers. They emphasize the fact that the extent of their safe driving depends largely on the co-operation they get from the students who ride the bus. The bus drivers are: Delores Lancaster, Bessie Jones, Frances

Manning, Tim Daw, Earl Lindsey, Eric Johnson, Darrell Hinnant, Edsel Sullivan, Rayburn Uzzell, Billy Gray, Pete Parks, Linwood Earl Sauls, Sammy Rabon, Thomas Roberts.

Double, Double Toil And Trouble

The NUHOSCA staff meets to check ad sales and yearbook receipts. They are also looking over the layout materials and trying to figure out all the directions that accompany each section of the book.

Round about the cauldron go;
In the scrambled copy throw.
Layout, that melted blood and bone,
Would not please the heart of stone
Of Editor firm, "twould not!
Boil it all in a charmed pot!

With apologies to Mr. Shakespeare, the annual staff submits the recipe above as a positive method for brewing a yearbook. Beginning in August and continuing for long hours after school, the staff spent much labor and brain power in creating the book they now offer with pride to their readers, the 1964 NUHOSCA.

Helen Smith, Connie Mitchell, and Annie Ruth Smith rack their brains for new ideas on layout.

Joan Strickland, Editor, and Evelyn Jackson, Business Manager, take a break to examine some old annuals and to make plans for this year's book.

Scholastic Achievement

The Beta Club is a national honorary society which recognizes students for outstanding academic performance. Beta Club members are school leaders who set examples for others. Students who have maintained a ninety average in their first two years of high school are eligible for membership.

These studious, dignified Beta scholars here shown undergoing initiation, preferred to retain their anonymity.

Becoming a marshal is one of the highest honors a junior can receive. Only through hard work can this title be achieved, for it is awarded to the seven juniors who have the highest academic averages in their class. The scholastic marshals aid in graduation and baccalaureate ceremonies by serving as ushers. They also serve at the Parents' Tea given after the Baccalaureate service.

Rewarded

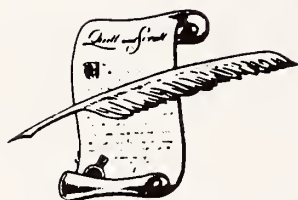

The marshals for this year are Lenwood Sauls, Mildred Daniels, Evelyn Jackson, Carolyn Patton - Chief Marshal, Joan Strickland, and Delores Lancaster.

Joan Strickland is the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen for this year. The award is given to a senior girl chosen by the faculty for her dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. As our D.A.R. citizen, Joan attended the state rally at Edenton, North Carolina.

Journalists Honored

This year, for the first time, New Hope achieved affiliation with the Quill and Scroll International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. The society is open to Juniors and seniors who rank scholastically in the upper third of their classes and who have done outstanding work in some phase of journalism. The members this year received their pins at a luncheon meeting. They have planned to publish a book of student work in the spring. The members are: Joan Strickland, Evelyn Jackson, Carolyn Patton, Linda Daly, Connie Mitchell, Annie Ruth Smith, Ann Summerlin, Max Best.

Essay Contestant

For preparing and delivering a speech on "The United Nations and its Role in World Peace," Carolyn Patton won first place in New Hope's contest last spring. As a contestant in the county contest, Carolyn took second place honors.

Carolyn practices the delivery of her honor-winning speech.

In Case Of Emergency

Call a Gray Lady! From cases of flu to sore fingers, the Gray Ladies never have a dull moment. New Hope has approximately twenty-three Gray ladies who take turns at being on duty during the school day. There are always at least two volunteers present to handle the minor cuts and scrapes of the school day. They are trained in first aid and are ready to help in any emergency. New Hope was the first school in Eastern North Carolina to institute a Gray Lady Program. We are very proud of them.

Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. Garriss administer T.L.C. as they take the temperatures of some ailing students.

Letter Men

Members of the Monogram Club are those students who have lettered in baseball, basketball, or cheerleading. To letter, one must have participated in over one-half of the total games played in any one season. The purpose of the club is to create a stronger interest in sports among the students. A fund raising project of the club this year was the sale of pins and key chains. President of the Monogram Club is Linwood Sauls.

Active School Spirit

The Pep Club was organized this year under the direction of Mr. King and the Student Council. The Pep Club has been very active making posters for ball games and other activities of the school. The club has five charter members who were nominated and approved for membership this year. The members are Carolyn Patton, Linda Summerlin, Rayburn Uzzell, Carolyn Williams, and Jimmy Bargoil.

general election. Prospective cheerleaders go out in the early fall for several weeks of intensive practice. The election is held after a demonstration before the student body.

"Extra! Extra! Read all about it!
We've got a team and we're proud to shout it!
They're rough, they're tough, they're hard to bluff!
Come on New Hope, strut your stuff!"

Hours of practice pay off as the girls boost the spirit of the team to another victory.

Big Eleven

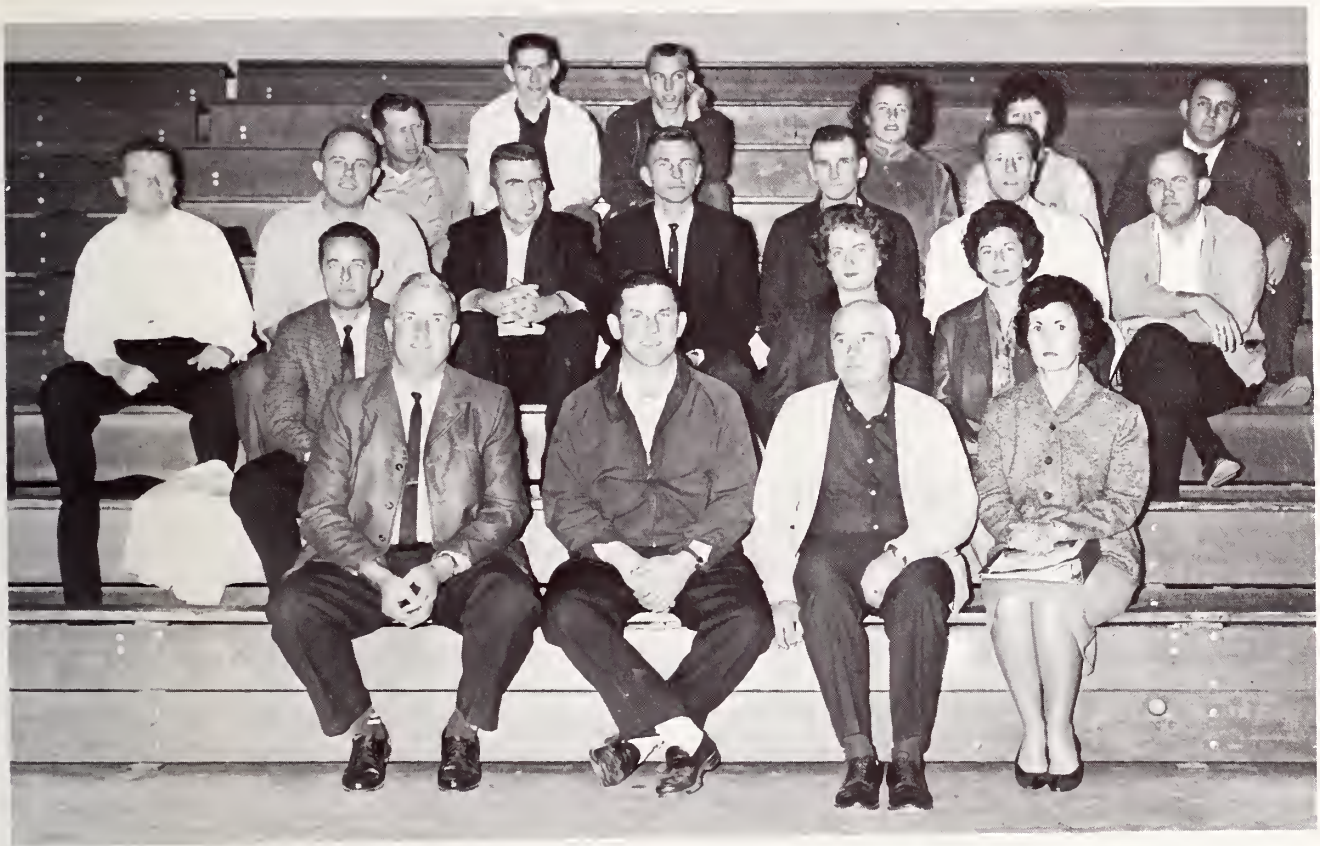

Touchdowns and goal posts are new words for New Hope this year. Our first football team, under the supervision of Mr. Andrews and Mr. Thompkins, has been organized. Our boys made a good showing in their first game with Aycock. The team has big plans for next year.

Batter Up

"Take me out to the ball game!" And we'll see the New Hope sluggers at work. The ball team has made a fine record in the Wayne County Base Ball Conference.

Big Boost For New Hope

New Hope's welfare has been boosted! This organization of patrons who are interested in the school and its athletic program, has bought the equipment for our football team. They are planning to construct a football field in the near future. In order to support New Hope's athletic and playground programs, the Boosters sponsored a fund raising horse show last spring. Pictured above are the Booster Club members. Below, Mr. Herring calls a meeting to order.

Intramural sports competition is available to all non-varsity athletes. Teams are made up from the various homerooms for a variety of sports—from volleyball to baseball. Games are played during homeroom period.

High School

Above, Eula's team drives in to set up a play. Below, the girls watch the net to see if they made it.

Competition

Above left, Pat clears the floor in a noble effort. Above right, the boys scramble for the rebound. Right, Benny and Don hit the mat as they wrestle off some steam.

Jump balls, foul shots, and half-time conferences keep the girls' Varsity Basketball teams busy on game nights. The team is pictured above with the coach, Mr. Gainey, and the co-captains, Carolyn Williams and Mildred Daniels.

Yellow Jackets

Betty Watson toes the line as she sinks another basket in a free shot.

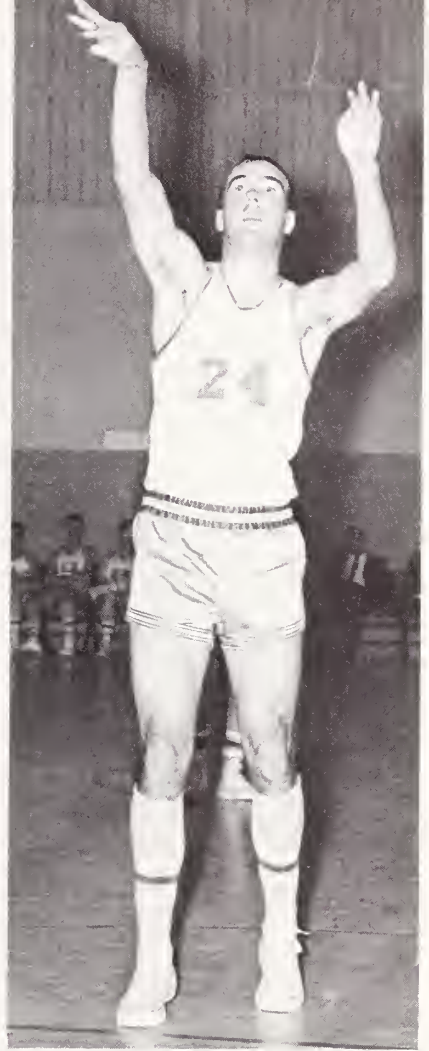

Jump Ball! The girls clear the floor in an effort to tip the ball to a teammate.

Time Out! The team is in a huddle while Coach Andrews gives the boys a few pointers on the next play.

Lenwood Sauls puts some body-English on the ball after making his shot.

Pack A Sting

Practice sessions and training rules dominate the lives of the players during the basketball season. The team is coached by Mr. Andrews and Mr. Thompkins. The team is pictured below with captain Lenwood Sauls.

In for a lay-up, Mildred nets two more points for New Hope.

Steady balance and a flexible wrist help Peggy net a foul shot to add extra points to the score.

Yellow Jackets

Bud waits for a chance at the rebound.

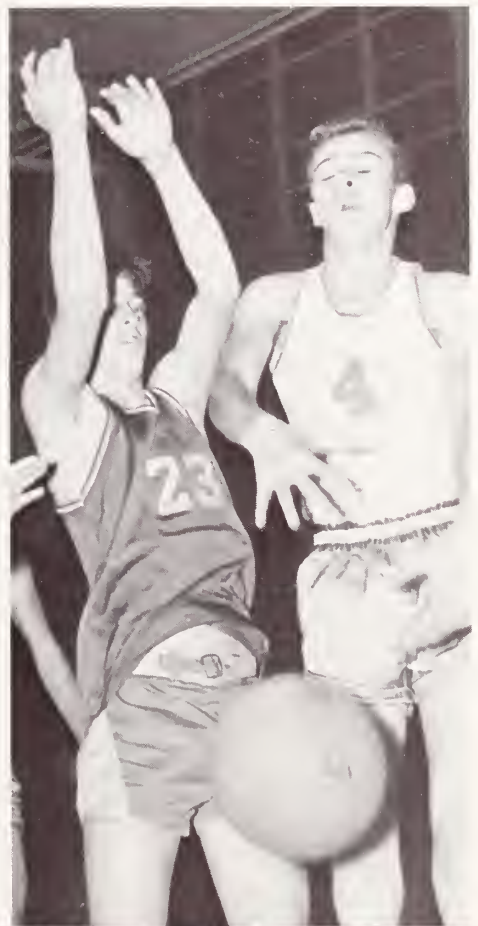

In mid-air, Carolyn tips the ball to waiting team-mate, Mildred...

In Action

Lenwood breaks through the block in an effort to get the ball.

Pat dives in for the rebound!

Help! Lenwood to the rescue! A New Hope player battles off two Seven Springs players in an effort to get the ball.

These girls look on anxiously as the clock ticks off the seconds of a tensely played game. New Hope has good prospects for the future in girls' basketball.

School Committee

The School Committee, chaired by Mr. Tommy Strickland, meets monthly to discuss the welfare of, and the policies concerning the students of New Hope. They have the responsibility of overseeing the care and maintenance of buildings and facilities, of recommending prospective teachers to the County Board of Education, and of laying down policy for the functioning of the school. The committee members are Mr. Earl Hering, Mr. Bobby Wilson, Mr. Tommy Strickland, and Mr. Winston Best.

Parents and Faculty Join Forces

The Parents-Teachers Association affords parents and teachers the opportunity to meet every six weeks to discuss the school and the students. Prior to every meeting, parents are invited to conference sessions with the teachers. As well as planning informative programs for the parents, the association has helped the school acquire an intercom system, fire ladders, a floor buffer, and an incinerator. Their service to the school is indispensable.

Everyone takes a seat at the January meeting prior to hearing a speaker on the lunchroom program.

The officers of the P.T.A. prepare to give reports to the meeting. They are President, Mr. Archie Piner; Secretary, Mrs. Richard Benton; and Treasurer, Mrs. Harry Ivey. Not present for the picture was Vice-President, Mr. Carlton Parks.

Administration

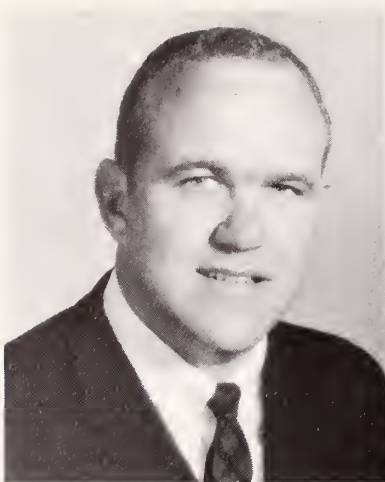

Mr. King, our principal, is shown at his desk writing the day's bulletin. Mr. King has the responsibility of overseeing the activities of the entire school. He has worked closely with the Student Council as its adviser in an effort to bring the administration into closer contact with the student body. He is a familiar figure to the students as they see him crossing campus at a run.

Mrs. Godwin, school secretary, balances her accounts. In addition to keeping books and tabulating records for the school, she helps manage the school store. Mrs. Godwin also helps the office practice students in their work.

Mr. Neal, combines his teaching duties with the job of Dean of Students. Shown at the right, he takes a break from his morning duties of checking absences and bus schedules. He is Mr. King's right hand and does much to help him in his duties.

the seniors to success in their many activities.

Mildred Daniels studies the poetry on the bulletin board. As an active member of our class, she has served as an officer, represented us on the Student Council, played Varsity basketball, and worked tirelessly on our many activities. She has well earned the title of outstanding senior.

to Graduation!

Take me to your leader!

The senior class officers are on official business. They are President, TIM DAW; Vice-President, JAMES CLOSSON; Secretary-Treasurer, DELORES LANCASTER; Student Council Representative, MILDRED DANIELS; Reporter, JEAN COBB.

Small Fry

The senior class mascots, Woody Price and Denise Carlyle, relax before the fireplace after a hard day of play. Mascots bring memories of younger days to the seniors. On commencement night they lead the seniors down the aisle to their seats. We love them.

Money! Money! Money!

Every year the seniors are faced with the prospect of raising enough money to finance their senior trip. This year the seniors have planned a trip to Washington, D. C. and to the New York World's Fair. To achieve this end they have sold magazines, collected and sold tobacco, tied tobacco, sold old papers, and sponsored a chicken stew supper.

Competition grows fierce as Kenneth Herring and Lenwood Sauls display the aggressive salesmanship that made them the top two magazine salesmen.

As good a way to cut class as any, the seniors decide. They are busy bundling the old papers and magazines they collected in their drive.

Artistic talent finds an outlet as these creative seniors design posters to advertise their chicken stew supper.

Status Symbols

The end of the first six weeks find the seniors outside admiring their new class rings. To receive a ring, the senior must pass all the subjects required for graduation.

He is then privileged to hold his hands out before him for a day or two so that underclassmen may cast envious eyes on his new possession.

The underclassmen accord the seniors the proper respect by rising as the seniors march into assembly.

Moments of Madness

"Good to the last drop!"
Wait! What are the seniors doing back there? Whew!
Just clowning for the camera.

"Please girls, don't pull any more out!" begs Bessie as Evelyn and Mildred tease away to give her the latest in hair styles. Vanity does have its price!

Reward

The seniors load up to go out to lunch. Any senior who is exempt from three of five exams has the privilege of leaving campus for lunch during exam week. To be exempt, one must average ninety in a subject.

The seniors ransack the library in an effort to find materials for their senior research papers. Their reaction? "These are the times that try mens' souls."

Preparing for the Big Day

Delores climbs up on a chair to measure Clonky's head for his mortar-board. The seniors begin to grow impatient now for the night when they will don caps and gowns for the walk across the stage.

The Day Draws Near

The seniors line up to practice to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." The music lends an air of nostalgia and urgency as they begin to realize that high school days are nearly over.

It is all over now. The music has drifted away. The blue gowns are stored away for next year. Diplomas have been awarded. The seniors leave the school for the last time as a group. For they are no longer seniors, but have now joined the ranks of alumni. On this note, they bid New Hope School farewell.
